Clients who utilize Foliofn as custodian will also incur either a .20% (20 bps) annual asset-based fee or $50 fee (whichever is greater) for account maintenance services. Such fees will be charged in accordance with such funds' prospectuses, as applicable. These fees and expenses are paid by funds or investment companies but are ultimately borne by client as a result of a fund's expense ratio. There may also be an assessment of administration fees for other account transactions such as check requests, bank wires, electronic funds transfer, IRA maintenance fees, and other legal or transfer fees. Clients are responsible for payment of all third-party fees and expenses. It is important to note that the advisory fees paid to FANAdvisors are separate and distinct from the maintenance fees and transaction expenses charged by third parties.

Upon receipt of the written termination request, FANAdvisors will assess fees pro rata, if applicable, to the date of termination and any unearned portion of prepaid fees will be refunded within fourteen (14) days. Any balances for unpaid fees due to our firm will be collected prior to disbursement of funds, if applicable. In the event we are unable to deduct final fees from an account (in the case of account transfer), we will transmit an invoice to client, which is due upon receipt.

Other Compensation

Some supervised persons (officers, directors, partners, or investment advisor representatives) of FANAdvisors are also registered representatives of a registered broker-dealer. As registered representatives, such supervised persons may also earn commissions or other fees for services to brokerage clients who are also clients of our firm. More details regarding affiliations are outlined in Item 10, Financial Activities and Affiliations. Please also review the Other Business Activities section (Item 4) of each respective supervised person's Brochure Supplement for a detailed explanation of such compensation.

1. Conflicts of Interest

The registration of supervised persons in different capacities (as registered representatives of unaffiliated broker-dealers and investment advisor representatives of FANAdvisors) creates an actual conflict of interest with our advisory clients. To mitigate the conflicts of interest relative to dual registration and the receipt of commissions, compensation, and advisory fees, our investment advisor representatives adhere to the following standards: (1) recommendations of products and services are based on an evaluation of the client's best interest (our fiduciary duty) and, (2) clients will receive written notification of dual compensation or any other actual or potential conflict of interest relative to the purchase or sale of investment products or services.

2. Non-Exclusive Investment Products

The investment products offered by our dually licensed supervised persons or investment advisor representatives are available through other registered representatives not affiliated with FANAdvisors. Prospective clients or clients are not obligated to purchase investment products recommended by our supervised persons or investment advisor representatives.

3. Commissions Revenue

Even though our dually licensed supervised persons earn commissions and other sales-based revenue through their affiliation with unaffiliated broker-dealers, FANAdvisors receives no commission revenue.

4. Advisory Fee Offset

The advisory services of FAN*Advisors* does not include any assessment for the combination of advisory fees and commissions. Moreover, mark-ups are not applicable to our advisory business.

TYPES OF CLIENTS (Item 7)

We generally provide investment advice to individuals, high net-worth individuals, corporations, and other businesses.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES, AND RISK OF LOSS (Item 8)

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Clients engage our services to manage all or a portion of their assets on a discretionary basis. We recommend strategies that primarily encompass the use of various third party money managers (separately managed portfolios) based on the client’s risk tolerance and investment objectives, among other factors. We also recommend various individual securities (equities, fixed income securities, exchange traded funds, mutual funds and other asset classes) as a passive strategy to supplement the client’s stated asset allocation.

We generally use fundamental analysis methods to evaluate individual securities. Our main sources of information include, but are not limited to, research materials prepared by others, inspection of corporate activities, financial newspapers and magazines, and annual reports, prospectuses, and corporate press releases.

Fundamental analysis consists of calculating financial ratios, as well as reviewing cyclical trends of industries in conjunction with monetary policy indicators to assess the overall performance and profitability of markets and companies.

Our investment management services utilize passive strategies for long-term growth. Correspondingly, our investment strategies related to separately managed portfolios allocate clients’ assets primarily among two general methodologies, tactical or strategic. The specific details regarding these strategies are as follows:

A tactical asset allocation strategy is an active portfolio management strategy. This investment strategy adjusts the percentage of various asset classes, to include the protection of cash or cash equivalents in periods of heighten volatility, in order to take advantage of market pricing anomalies or strong market sectors. This strategy allows portfolio managers to create extra value by taking advantage of certain situations in the marketplace. It is considered an active strategy since money managers regularly rebalance the asset mix depending on their evaluation of market indicators in an effort to participate in positive market returns and mitigate the impact of negative market returns. Money manager use various indicators of market activity to include fundamental, technical, and/or macroeconomic analysis in determining when and how to change the mix of asset classes or individual securities in a portfolio.

Conversely, a strategic asset allocation strategy is a more passive portfolio management strategy. This investment strategy involves the periodic and often less frequent rebalancing of a somewhat set allocation of various asset classes in order to maintain a long-term goal for asset allocation based on a client’s risk tolerance, goals and investment horizon. Since the value of assets can change given market conditions, the portfolio periodically needs to be adjusted to maintain the original long-term goal for asset allocation. Strategic asset allocation is an investment strategy that attempts to balance risk by diversifying among various asset classes with the goal of achieving the anticipated long term performance of each respective asset class. As such, each asset will generally reflect the performance of that asset class and while potentially achieving the anticipated long term performance. This strategy may also reflect increased volatility depending on the actual performance of a given asset class.

As a part of our method of analysis and due diligence, we review and evaluate a third party money manager’s investment style or methodology, years in the business, assets under management, regulatory status, and relative portfolio costs to ensure that a money manager meets our initial selection requirements. After selection, we continue to monitor the performance of third party money managers to ensure that they continually provide the performance and value for which the money managers were selected initially.

Material Risks of Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Although we utilize common investment analysis methods and strategies, there remains some level of material risk. We utilize fundamental analysis methods that measure the risks of companies by formulating assumptions based on historical financial representations. Although we use valid data sources, examine expense ratios, review return and risk ratings extensively, refer to economic indicators, and review the implications of monetary policy, our strategies are implemented as a result of assumptions that are derived from the analysis of historical data. The results of investment strategies derived from this method of analysis are not guaranteed and past performance of an investment is not indicative of future financial returns.

Additionally, there remains some level of material risk in using various methods to evaluate the investment strategies of third-party money managers. Clients should be aware that all securities and/or investment strategies carry various types of risks. While it is impossible to name all potential types of risks associated with specific analysis methodologies and strategies, some common risks are as follows:

- Risks specific to third-party money managers. Investing clients' assets with another investment advisor involves additional risks. Such risks include the realization that the money managers are not as qualified as we believe them to be, that the securities or investment strategies that the money managers use are not as liquid as we would normally use in client's portfolios, or that their risk management guidelines are more liberal than we would normally employ. Additionally, the investment strategy implemented by a third party money manager may involve an above-average portfolio turnover that could negatively impact the net after-tax gain experienced by a client. Also, portfolio holdings used in an investment strategy are usually exchanged or transferred without regard to the individual tax ramifications to a client.
- General Market Risks. Markets can, as a whole, go up or down on various news releases or for no explicable reason. This means that at times, the price of specific securities could go up or down without real reason and may take some time to recover any lost value. Adding additional securities does not help to minimize this risk since all securities may be affected by market fluctuations. This will ultimately affect a client's securities or portfolio holdings.
- Risks Related to Time Horizon. If a client requires the liquidation of portfolio holdings at a time earlier than the anticipated investment horizon. If liquidations occur during a period in which the market prices of securities or portfolio values are low, a client will not realize as much value as he/she would have, had the security or portfolio holdings had the opportunity to gain value (or regain its value), as investments frequently do.
- Regulatory Risk. Changes in laws and regulations can change the value of company securities. Certain industries are more susceptible to government regulation. If portfolio holdings are invested heavily in a particular sector or industry correlating changes in zoning, tax structure, or specific industry regulations could have an impact on the portfolio's returns or holdings.
- Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate is not. Likewise, some investment vehicles are highly liquid while others are illiquid. Illiquid investments carry more risk because it can be difficult to sell or liquidate at a fair market price.
- Financial Risk. Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations decreases profitability, because the business must meet the terms of its obligations in good and bad economic times. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value. All businesses are susceptible to financial risks at some point in a business cycle. Third party money managers that invest in businesses that have excessive debt could negatively affect a client's portfolio.
- Business Continuity Risk. In the event of a significant business disruption, unforeseeable event or natural disaster that causes total or partial outage affecting our offices or a technical problem affecting applications, data centers or networks, our advisory activities may be adversely impacted. Service providers may also fail to perform and our ability to conduct business may be curtailed by any disruption in the infrastructure that supports operations.

To mitigate such risks, we have adopted a business continuity plan to implement recovery strategies that are designed to maintain critical functions and limit the impact of any business interruption or disaster on client activities or business transactions.

Notwithstanding the method of analysis or investment strategies employed by our firm, the assets within any portfolio are subject to risk of devaluation or loss. There is no guarantee that portfolio holdings or investment assets will achieve the desired investment objectives. Please be aware that in addition to the risks outlined above, there are many different events that can affect the value of assets or portfolio holdings including, but not limited to, changes in financial status of companies, market fluctuations, changes in exchange rates, trading suspensions and delays, economic reports, and natural disasters. While the foregoing information provides a synopsis of the events that may affect investments, this listing is not exhaustive. We want you to understand that there are inherent risks associated with investing and depending on the risk occurrence, you may suffer LOSS OF ALL OR A SUBSTANTIAL AMOUNT OF YOUR PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT.

Recommendation of Specific Types of Securities

We generally focus our advice on and make recommendations relative to separately managed portfolios (i.e., third-party money managers) available through our account custodians. The separately managed portfolios invest in various securities including mutual funds, equities, bonds, fixed-income and debt securities, exchange traded funds, real estate investment trusts, and government securities.

We also recommend individual securities (equities, fixed income securities, and exchange traded funds) as a passive strategy to supplement a client's stated asset allocation(s).

DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION (Item 9)

Neither our firm nor management personnel has been involved in any industry related legal or disciplinary events.

OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS (Item 10)

Financial Industry Activities

FAN*Advisors* is not a registered broker-dealer and we do not have an application pending to registration as a broker-dealer. Additionally, our management personnel and principal member, Robert D. Van Sant, Jr. is not registered as and does not have an application pending for registration as a registered representative of a broker-dealer. Notwithstanding the foregoing, our firm permits dual registration and some of our supervised persons or investment advisor representatives are also registered as registered representatives of unaffiliated broker-dealers. Specific disclosures related to the dual registration of a particular supervised person can be found in the Other Business Activities Section (Item 4) of the supervised person's respective Brochure Supplement.

Financial Industry Affiliations

Furthermore, our management personnel nor supervised persons have applications pending to register as a Futures Commission Merchant, Commodity Pool Operator, or Commodity Trading Advisor, or associated persons thereof.

Other Affiliations

Some supervised persons of FAN*Advisors* are also licensed insurance agents who offer and sell insurance products for asset and income protection. If such an affiliation is applicable to a supervised person, this outside business activity is fully disclosed in the Other Business Activities Section (Item 4) of the supervised persons respective Brochure Supplement.

Acting in dual capacities (insurance agent and investment advisor representative) and receiving compensation in dual capacities, creates a conflict of interest. Accordingly, this is our notification of the aforementioned conflict of interest associated with our supervised persons offering of insurance products; additional conflicts will be disclosed in writing prior to providing other services. Please review Other Business Activities Section (Item 4) of each supervised person's respective Brochure Supplement for more details regarding insurance related affiliations and activities.

We do not have arrangements with a related person that is a broker dealer, municipal securities dealer, government securities dealer or broker, investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company, or "hedge fund," and offshore fund), other investment advisor or financial planner, futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor, banking or thrift institution, accountant or accounting firm, lawyer or law firm, pension consultant, real estate broker or dealer, sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships not already disclosed herein.

Other Investment Advisers

As discussed previously, we analyze, select, and recommend third-party money managers (i.e., other investment advisers) for our clients. Please review Items 4 and 5 herein relative to Separately Managed Portfolio Services. Due to the nature of these arrangements, the compensation derived from advisory products and services of other investment advisers (i.e., third-party money managers) could result in a substantial concentration of products and services that may benefit our firm indirectly. For example, if we provide a cost differential to one third party money manager that is not available to others, this is a conflict of interest. In the event this conflict occurs, it is typically mitigated by disclosures and bolstered by our fiduciary duty to ensure that our firm and investment adviser representatives collectively act in the best interest of our clients.

Our chief compliance officer will review transactions periodically to determine any existence of conflicts of interest to ensure disclosure, assess over-concentration with respect to any portfolio offering by a particular third-party money manager, evaluate client suitability to ensure compatibility with advisory programs, and assess fee structures for compensation that appears to extend beyond customary thresholds.

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION, OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING (Item 11)

Code of Ethics

We require that all employees of FANAdvisors act in an ethical and professional manner. Our management persons, investment advisor representatives, and other employees (collectively, "personnel") subscribe to a strict code of ethics. Our Code of Ethics is constructed to comply with the investment advisory laws and regulations that require firms to act as fiduciaries in transactions with their clients. Our inherent fiduciary duty requires that we act solely in our clients' best interest and adhere to standards of utmost integrity in our communications and transactions. These standards ensure that our clients' interests are given precedence.

Accordingly, we have implemented extensive policies, guidelines, and procedures that promote ethical practices and conduct by all of our personnel. The foregoing has been compiled and is collectively referred to as our Code of Ethics. We adopted our Code of Ethics to specify and prohibit certain types of transactions deemed to create conflicts of interest (or perceived conflicts of interest), as well as to establish reporting requirements and enforcement procedures relating to personal transactions by our personnel.

Our Code of Ethics, which specifically deals with our fiduciary duty, professional standards, insider trading, personal trading, and gifts and entertainment, establishes our ideals for ethical conduct based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty, and trust. We will provide a copy of our complete Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

We do not recommend that clients buy or sell securities that a related person may have a material financial interest.

Personal Trading

Proprietary Trading

We may at times, buy or sell securities for our own accounts that we have also recommended to clients. We will always document any transactions that could be construed as a conflict of interest. Conflicts of interest relative to our firm or employees' personal trades may present in many different contexts. Some conflicts of interest related to personal trading include, trading ahead to obtain a better transaction execution price than clients, recommendations or trades based on pecuniary interest or on information that is not available to the public, or structuring transactions in a manner so that the end result is profitable to our firm (and/or an employee). To mitigate or remedy any conflicts of interest or perceived conflicts of interest, we monitor internal trading reports for adherence to our Code of Ethics.

Our Code of Ethics further requires us to (1) act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations (2) to act in the best interest of clients, (3) pre-clear transactions in private placements, or initial public offerings and, (4) ensure that the chief compliance officer reviews personal securities transactions to confirm adherence.

Simultaneous Trading

From time to time, we may buy or sell securities for proprietary or personal accounts, respectively, at or around the same time as clients. In any instance where securities are bought or sold at or about the same time, we will uphold our fiduciary duty by always ensuring that transactions are beneficial to the interest of our clients and in compliance with our Code of Ethics.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES (Item 12)

Selection and Recommendation

We make recommendation of account custodians after evaluating several factors. These factors include but are not limited to, availability of services, competitiveness of fees and expenses, execution capabilities, reputation, access to securities markets and expertise in handling brokerage support processes.

Our firm maintains a custodial services agreement with Foliofn Investments, Inc ("Foliofn"). Foliofn is a registered broker-dealer, member of FINRA and SIPC and we are participants of Foliofn's institutional services platform for independent investment advisors. Foliofn provides brokerage, operational support, and other custodial services to our firm.

In some instances, we may utilize the institutional platform services of TD Ameritrade Institutional, Division of TD Ameritrade, Inc ("TDAI") for brokerage and other custodial services as well. TDAI is a registered broker-dealer, member of FINRA and SIPC.

Please note that the account custodians (broker-dealers) named above are not affiliated with FANAdvisors. We make recommendations based on the best services for our clients, pre-existing retail relationships, cost implications, and brokerage support processes for transactions. Moreover, we reserve the right to use other or additional firms for custodial services.

1. Soft Dollar Benefits

We do not receive research or other products or services (i.e., soft dollar benefits) from account custodians (broker-dealers) in exchange for processing securities transactions for clients.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not receive client referrals from broker-dealers or other third parties in exchange for using any particular account custodian (broker-dealer).

3. Directed Brokerage

(a) As previously stated, we recommend that clients utilize Foliofn or TDAI. Our established service agreements are designed to maximize trading efficiencies and cost effectiveness on behalf of our clients. By recommending that clients use any one of our account custodians (broker-dealers), we seek to achieve the most favorable results relative to trading costs, allocation of funds, and rebalancing of client investments.

(b) Generally, we do not permit clients to direct brokerage. Due to our advice and strategies, we ask that clients mutually agree to use one of our preferred custodians in that otherwise, we may not be able to effect transactions in the most cost effective manner.

Order Aggregation

Trade orders executed for accounts held by account custodian, FolioFn are subject to block (or aggregate) trading windows. Block trading windows for advisory accounts are used to execute purchase and sell transactions in a more timely, equitable, cost effective, and efficient manner. The practice of block trading or aggregating orders is reasonably likely to result in more of an administrative convenience for our firm and an overall economic benefit to clients. Clients benefit relatively with averaged purchase or sale execution prices, lower transaction expenses, beneficial timing of transactions, or a combination of these and other factors. The chief compliance officer will review transactions periodically to detect and prevent inefficiencies that may result from using block trading (or order aggregation) processes.

Trade orders executed for accounts held by account custodian TDAI are not subject to block (or aggregate) trading unless we determine that the size of a trade warrants the necessity to use such processes.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS (Item 13)

Periodic Reviews

Our criteria for reviewing client accounts are as follows:

1. Review of Investment Management Accounts

Our investment advisor representatives will provide ongoing investment advice and monitor accounts continually. Our investment advisor representatives are also required to conduct formal reviews of client investment management accounts no less than annually or more frequently at the request of any client. Investment advisor representatives will monitor account performance to evaluate whether the client's investments continue to align with the stated financial objectives. If reallocation is necessary, our investment advisor representatives may buy or sell investments that are appropriate for a client's stated investment objectives.

Our chief compliance officer will review a client's account documentation and stated asset allocation(s) periodically to ensure that investment advisor representatives adhere to firm policies, procedures, and our fiduciary responsibilities.

2. Monitoring of Separately Managed Portfolios

Given the parameters set for the client's asset allocation, our investment advisor representatives will provide ongoing investment advice and monitor the activity of separately managed portfolios continually. Our investment advisor representatives are required to conduct detailed formal reviews of client portfolios at least annually. The annual client reviews are to ensure that the investment allocation and risk tolerance of the portfolio manager continuously aligns with a client's investment goals, investment objective, stated asset allocation. Our annual review process also includes reviewing the various asset classes, investment management styles, specified risk/return requirements and performance of the portfolios. If reallocation is necessary, we may select or recommend different portfolios or third-party money managers.

3. Review of Retirement Plan Consultation Services

Reviews for retirement plan consultation services are limited. Plan participants (or beneficiaries) will not receive any scheduled reviews or on-going reports. These services are provided on a global basis and do not include personalized investment advice.

Intermittent Review Factors

Intermittent reviews may be triggered by substantial market fluctuation, economic, business, or political events, or by changes in a client's financial status (such as retirement, termination of employment, relocation, or inheritance). Clients are urged to contact us initiate an intermittent review upon the occurrence of any of the foregoing events.

Client Reports

We do not issue separate reports to clients. Clients will receive transaction confirmations from the account custodian shortly after executing purchases or sells. Additionally, the account custodian will send monthly electronic notifications regarding the availability of account statements for each month in which there is trading activity. If there is no activity during any month, clients will receive electronic notifications and/or statements no less than quarterly. The account statements will provide details regarding account activity, asset allocations, holdings, and performance.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION (Item 14)

In some instances, we receive advisory compensation in the form of solicitor's fees from select third-party money managers for the offering Separately Managed Portfolio Services to our advisory clients. Our solicitor compensation, agreements, and disclosures comply with Rule 206(4)-3.

We may enter into referral arrangements with unaffiliated third parties ("Solicitors") that we compensate for referring clients to us or soliciting clients to use our advisory services. These referral arrangements are required to be disclosed to clients at the time of the referral in a document outlining our compensation agreement with the solicitor. As compensation for referrals, solicitors receive a portion of the ongoing advisory fees that we receive from referred clients.

CUSTODY (Item 15)

Custodian of Assets

We do not hold physical custody of client funds or securities. We require that qualified custodians hold client assets. For more information regarding the account custodians (broker-dealers) that service our clients' accounts, please review the Brokerage Practices Section (Item 12). Our firm has indirect custody of client funds and securities because of our authorization and ability to deduct advisory fees directly from clients' accounts; nonetheless, we have implemented the safeguard requirements by requiring safekeeping of clients' funds and securities by a qualified custodian.

Account Statements

Client account statements are delivered electronically by the account custodian. Clients will receive electronic notification from the account custodian regarding the availability of account statements. Clients are advised to review account statements carefully, comparing asset values, holdings, and advisory fees on current statements to that in previously received statements and confirmations. Clients are responsible for ensuring the accuracy of advisory fee calculations.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION (Item 16)

Discretionary Authority

It is customary for our firm to exercise discretionary authority in order to manage and direct the investments of clients' accounts. Clients grant this authority upon execution of our advisory agreement. Discretionary authority is for the purpose of making and implementing investment decisions without prior consultation with clients. Investment decisions are made in accordance with the client's stated investment objectives and clients may at any time during our engagement, advise us in writing of any limitations on our authority. We generally allow clients to impose restrictions on investing in individual securities of specific industries or countries, etc., and dollar amounts or percentage of investments in the foregoing. Nonetheless, imposing onerous limitations may adversely affect separately managed portfolios or limit the third party money manager's ability to manage a client's assets due to the composition of portfolios in certain programs. In instances of onerous restrictions, we reserve the right to terminate our advisory service provisions as outlined in the Refund Policy section (Item 5).

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES (Item 17)

Our firm does not participate in proxy voting on behalf of clients. We may provide information for clarification of the issues presented in proxy solicitation materials; however, our clients are responsible for casting their own proxy votes. Clients are also responsible for directing other shareholder action items relative to mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings and other type events pertaining to the securities held in accounts managed by us. Clients will receive proxy solicitation and other information regarding shareholder action items, by mail or electronically, from the account custodian or issuer's transfer agent. Clients must follow the instructions for voting or take the action as directed in the mailing or electronic delivery.
